March 9, 2005 - About MyTechnologies.US

MyTechnologies.US is the core site managed by Ted Lyttle. We have offered site design, hosting, and management since 1997 to many satisfied customers. MyTechnologies.US is a full-service provider, but over the years has specialized in data driven web sites. A data driven web site offers many advantages over the traditional site one would purchase from a web designer. Most of the time you would give them your initial information and images and they would build a static (non-changing) site. At the time in which you would like to change some of the pages, they would charge you again for the updates and changes. At MyTechnologies.US, YOU, the web administrator, is in charge! With a username and password you could change photo albums, schedules, etc. from any PC, anywhere!

We believe that MyTechnologies.US stands out from the competition and can meet your needs for your company or organization site makeover or even your first site! Sign up NOW! Our references are available upon request.
